

At the next session of Parliament, the Land Husbandry Bill, which will provide for security in the use of land so that a productive farmer can improve his land without fear of his children's dispossession of land upon his death.

It is in this vein that I invite all to join me in building a new Lesotho, by grouping into associations and co-operatives so that the Government can assist you with ease. Let us exploit the strength we can obtain from unity and brace ourselves to fight poverty, disease and ignorance, instead of each other.
