

bringing you water at your convenience. These have been laid by this Government since it was elected. In your administration office there is a telephone for speedy transmission of your messages to your people. These are also fruitful efforts of what your Government has done in the service of the Nation.

I can only summarise all in one word: "actions speak louder than words". What we have been able to do for the Nation throughout the Country is acclaimed even by our opponents. We have, therefore, every reason to rejoice and be proud, now that the majority of people chiefs and headmen accept this "Government of the people by the people". Nevertheless, I would not be blind to the many unsolved problems before us, particularly those intentionally created by some persons in responsible positions, who, because of their thirst for power which they wish it were theirs have now joined hands with other well known opposition forces against Chieftainship and this Government which has been elected by the People. A more disturbing fact is that these opposition parties freely and impudently misuse the name of His Majesty. This, nonetheless, will not deter Government from tackling and solving these problems. In fact, we are determined to break down the rock placed by these cynics in the way of progress.

Government and I are prepared to break through every obstacle meant to impede development and welfare of our people. Moreover, we will continue to establish firms and factories where people can find jobs.

I am happy to say that, apart from firms and factories so far started by Government, and others soon to be..../3.
